THE SANTA BARBARA MEETING.

The Committee on Scientific Program calls attention to the publication in this issue of the program for the State Meeting, to be held in Santa Barbara on the 15th, 16th and 17th of April. The members of the committee feel that the papers this year will prove of unusual interest, particularly those on War Surgery and Influenza. In addition there will be several addresses touching upon various phases of the physicians' relations to social problems and to business; topics of vital interest, and yet not ordinarily included in the programs of meetings of this character. The average practitioner is prone to act as though he believed that assiduous attention to the particular medical needs of the sick, who seek his consolation and advice, comprised his whole duty in life. He is apt to think that if he discharges such obligations carefully and well, he is entitled to the "Well done, good and faithful servant" of the Master. But, is he? Are there other debts which he owes to himself, to his family, to his profession and to society? The committee thinks that there are, and believes that a faithful attendance at the different sessions of the various sections will unfold to us a broader, clearer vision of the scope and possibilities of the work of the medical profession. Come and see for yourself. Reserve your hotel accommodations early.

SPLENDID PROGRAM.

The annual meeting this year promises to surpass all its predecessors in the variety and profitable character of the convention program. The only regret that comes as one glances over the subject titles and names of the able authors of attractive scientific papers is that one must miss some of them, as we cannot divide ourselves and be in several places at the same time.

There is one unique feature of the program, however, that all may attend. The League for the Conservation of Public Health has arranged a luncheon at the Potter Hotel for Wednesday, April 16th, to which all the Convention delegates are most cordially invited.

The League Luncheon program is as follows:

The prominence of the speakers and the importance of the subjects should insure the attendance of every delegate. We anticipate and prognosticate a most enjoyable and profitable League Luncheon.
